

Who Are We?

- We are a local non-profit conservancy led by a small, but mighty staff and board of directors.
- CRWC was created in 2000 in response to the Carmel River being placed on the top 10 most endangered rivers in the U.S. by American Rivers.
- Since then CRWC has worked on various projects throughout the watershed toward our mission.
- CRWC also leads a local stakeholder group called the Carmel River Task Force, which identifies and implements priority restoration activities.

Our mission is to restore the Carmel River to its former health and beauty

Our Efforts

Since 2000, CRWC has worked with other organizations to restore and protect the watershed through:

- Local student education
- Wildfire outreach activities
- Watershed health research (Carmel River Watershed Health Report Card) to inform restoration priorities
- Public outreach through our annual California Wildlife Day community event and watershed tours
- Responsible pharmaceutical disposal
- Advocacy for solutions to dams, depleted water supplies and flooding issues

Get Involved!

Email us if you want to volunteer with CRWC or our partner organizations on efforts such as the following:

- Community cleanups
- Invasive plant removal
- Fish rescues with the Carmel River Steelhead Association
- Water quality monitoring with the Coastal Watershed Council in Santa Cruz
- CRWC also periodically seeks qualified interns
